Key Knowledge and Understanding

A film score is original music written specifically to accompany a film. The score forms part of the film's soundtrack

Since the invention of digital technology, many modern films have been able to rely on digital samples to imitate the sound of live instruments, and many scores are created and performed wholly by the composers themselves

The composer usually enters the creative process towards the end of filming at around the same time as the film is being edited

Camille Saint-Saëns' 1908 score for "L'assassinat du Duc de Guise" was the first original film score composed. "Talkies" soon appeared, and music formed an integral part of the sound track along with dialogue and sound effects.
